About the faculty development program:

- National Education Policy, 2020 endorses the education system rooted in the Indian ethos that contributes directly to transforming India into a knowledge society. It envisages a pragmatic transformation in the domain of education with a paradigm shift from theoretical knowledge to skill enhancement. The five guiding pillars of NEP 2020 are Access, Equity, Quality, Affordability and Accountability.
- Outcome-based education (OBE) is a student-centric teaching and learning methodology in which the course delivery and assessment are planned to achieve stated objectives and outcomes. It focuses on measuring student performance at different levels. Bloom's taxonomy segregates the learning objectives into cognitive, affective, and psychomotor domains. The flipped learning mode facilitates a better understanding of the topic and promotes self-learning.
- The faculty development program has been conceived with the intention of facilitating an active participation among the participants catering to different aspects and recommendations of NEP 2020. The sessions by eminent speakers serve as the guiding principle to design a learner-centric curriculum with emphasis on global prerequisites of employability and in alignment with the pillars of NEP 2020.
